SX192

BARSTOW, CALIFORNIA, is located at the junction of highways 66, 91 and 466. Today this modern town enjoys a brisk tourist trade, just as it did in the old days. Barstow was located on one of the oldest trails to enter Southern California, "The Mojave Indian Trail," dating back to 1776. Later "The Spanish Trail," some times called, "The Santa Fe Trail," opened in 1831, made use of the Old Mojave Trail from "Fork of The Roads," east of Barstow to San Gabriel . . . M. P.

Photo-color by Merle Porter

Published by Royal Pictures — Colton, Calif.

AC-194
5145

RT66-2300

2¢

PLACE
STAMP
HERE

POST CARD

Address

TAKE A
BARSTOW PHARMACY
Rexall
GOLD
STONE
Club
HOTEL
CLIFF
HOUSE
CLIFF HOUSE
LIQUO